LO: To describe a dream

All this week (in black history week) we have been looking at influential black people. So far, we have learnt about Rosa Parks, Barack Obama and today, we learnt about Martin Luther King. We discovered that he was an influential leader who 'had a dream'.

For this week's big write, you will write a dream.

- Write in first person (I will, I have a dream, I dream that...)
- Use yesterday's learning to help you (Your notes you wrote in as president to encourage equality and diversity)
- Include information from what you have learnt this week to describe your ideal world/ dream (Rosa Parks but beyond and Barack Obama) and try to include information that you have learnt this week.

Write a dream

I have a dream that people are ~~not fair~~ fair because you can't be ~~fair~~ to other people that don't have the same skin as you because it doesn't matter you should always play with other people even though they don't have the same skin as you.

I have a ~~dream~~ dream where ~~people~~ people's families and ~~kids~~ kids are getting ~~in~~ in ~~because~~ because they have to go to ~~work~~ work instead of spending time with their family's but they have no choice.

I have a dream that I will be president of Africa because I would make Africa a better place just like England so that black people and white people can play with other people.

I have a dream that I will ~~not~~ not ~~because~~ because black people ~~can~~ can ~~much to~~ much to ~~me~~ me I will ~~remember~~ remember this day to day is a good day.

I have a dream that the world is going to be ~~better~~ better ~~not like~~ not like ~~Barack Obama~~ Barack Obama said no because she is sick of moving to the back all the time.

① An excellent piece of writing Ana is clear paragraphs written in first person
* wonderful ideas for your dream for the future
* Use sentence openers to extend the piece of writing and improve it.

I have a dream that people get treated better.

Miss Jones and Miss Jewsbury's class learned about Martin Luther King, and rewrote his famous speech to reflect society today.

Year 6 have been learning about Olaudah Equiano, the Transatlantic triangular slave trade, and how slavery came to be.

Miss Jewsbury's class also made some beautiful tie-dye fabric, and painted a sunset scene of the African Savanna.

African dance workshop

On Thursday, we welcomed Zvido Zvevanhu Arts Ensemble from Zimbabwe into school to work with Year 3 and 4. We were introduced to Enok and his team through an incredible, energetic dance performance which got everybody moving to the beat. Even Miss Glenly and Mr Tracy showed off their fantastic dance moves! It was such a fantastic opportunity for the children to learn about rural life in Zimbabwe, and to learn some traditional dances.

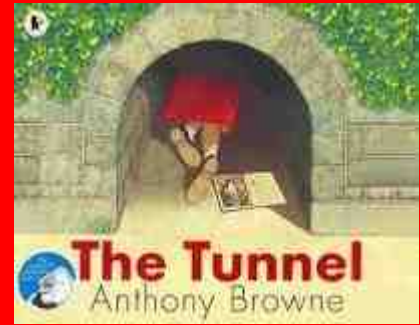

The group also performed some traditional music to the children in Year 1, explaining how people in Zimbabwe make their own instruments at home from everyday objects. What an inspirational day!

3CB Class Assembly

Miss Ball's class retold Anthony Browne's story 'The Tunnel' in their class assembly this week. It was amazing to see how the children could recall the story so well, which has helped them to write their own stories with similar themes in class. Well done Y3CB, you sang 'You've Got a Friend' beautifully!

Language of the Month

The language that we are celebrating this month is Bulgarian. As the only Bulgarian speaker in school, Veni in Year 5 taught the children some greetings and the numbers 1-5 during a special assembly. Veni and his mum told us all about Bulgarian food, the town they come from in Bulgaria and about some Bulgarian customs such as making Martenitsa, Thank you so much Veni and Mum for helping with our learning this week!
